Hans C. Knutson died last Thursday afternoon at his home, 394 West Sixteenth street at the age of 75 years. Mr. Knutson came to this city in 1863 and followed the life of a sailor until about 20 years ago. Among the schooners on which he sailed were the Pioneer, Eveline, Wood, Scud and William Bates. In the current number of Pier-son's magazine is a story written by Richard H. Post of this city entitled "Off The Main Road." It tells of a boddler who was headed for the Canadian line and who was captured because he allowed sentiment to interfere with his plans to escape. The story is well written, and possesses much heart interest.

Stockholders in the Walsh DeRoo Milling & Cereal Co., representing about $60,000 of the $100,000 worth of stock purchased by persons who had no connection with the original company, met last Monday and appointed a committee to investigate the affairs of the company from the time that the new company was formed as the result of the reorganization of the old Walsh-DeRoo Milling Co.

The Holland Juniors met defeat at Fennville Saturday by a score of 7 to 1; but in the defeat there is no disgrace for the boys made a better showing than Zeeland's vaunted champions of Ottawa county did. The Juniors certainly deserve great praise for the progress they have made in the face of adverse circumstances. Without scarcely a word of encouragement they have been plodding along faithfully and now are at a point where they command the respect of some of the best teams in this vicinity. Probably the Juniors is the foundation of Holland's next championship base ball club.

Macatawa Park property along the lake shore was damaged considerably by the week end storm. The waves undermined the sidewalks and in some instances attacked the foundations of the cottages. The problem of saving the lake shore property from further devastation by the waves is a serious one and must be settled soon or the fall storms will increase the havoc wrought. A storm wall will have to be built along the lake front to break the force of the waves or piles will have to be driven in front of the cottages on the lake. The people at the resort now realize the seriousness of the situation and are arranging to raise money to make repairs.

Some time ago the steamer Post Boy it is alleged ran into Forest Husted's yacht when the yacht had the right of way and now Husted brings suit to recover damages. B. Westerveld and Fred K. Colby, principal stockholders of the association to obtain redress. Attorney L. V. DeVries represents the plaintiff, and Diekema, Kollen & TenCate the defendants.

Labor Day was a sort of a chilly proposition in Holland, but only so far as the weather was concerned. The observance of the day was rather warm as nearly every place of business was closed and a holiday was taken by nearly every person in the city.

The employees of the C. L. King & Co. presented Levi Bell with $75.50. Mr. Bell, who has been engineer of the factory for eleven years left Wednesday for Morris-ton, Ont., to join his family and the purse was given to him as an evidence of the friendship of his fellow workmen. It is needless to say that Mr. Bell greatly appreciates this evidence of loyalty.

The first of the series of three games between Tripp's Invincibles and Maloney's Red Socks of Hopkins Station for $100 was played at Allegan Monday afternoon. It was a very pretty game with the exception of the eighth inning when Allegan made three errors and the Red Socks got four hits netting them six runs. The game finally ended by the Red Socks quitting and the Invincibles were given the game by the score of 9 to 0. There are two more games to be played but it would not be strange to see the whole thing end in a law suit.

This week views the beginning of the end of the resort season and without a single exception it has been the best season in the history of the resorts. From the boys who sold a few fugitive minnows, to the men who took sailing parties out for pay and up to the storekeepers, the hotel keepers and the steamboat companies all made money. The weather had a good deal to do with it for without the weather to drive them from home and to lure them to the resorts the profit side of the resort ledger would be a blank; but we had the right kind of weather and well—the people in the resort business got the money—all of which conduces to the good of Holland.

Relatives have nearly given up hope of finding the bodies of Charles Selriver and Julius Lense who were drowned in the wreck of their little fishboat off Saugatuck harbor several days ago. The body of the dog which was in the fishing boat has been found on the beach a short distance north of South Haven. C. E. Abell reports that he was spending the day with his family at Thunder Knob, last Thursday, and saw drifting along the shore a fisherman's dory, curved at both ends, which he thought may have come from the missing Saugatuck fishing boat. The boat moved so rapidly along the shore that it almost seemed to be in a current. It was entirely empty.

Work could have been started some time ago but as all of the iron was not ready at that time it was thought best to wait until it could be finished without any delay. Thirty or forty days is all the time that is expected to be consumed in the construction during which time passengers will be transferred on a ferry-boat which is now ready for use, the township paying the expense. —Saugatuck Commercial Record.

A BALCONY SCENE

By CAMILLA J. KNIGHT

WHEN Katherine came back to the dinner table after answering the telephone she looked so sober, especially in contrast with her previous high spirits, that the family resolved itself into an interrogation point at once.

"Harry can't come for me," she said slowly.

"Is that all? Thought there must have been a death at the very least."

"No, that's not all. He very kindly provides me with an escort, and that escort none other than Mr. Randolph Payson."

"Well, what's the matter with Mr. Payson? I thought he was all right?"

"That's just what's the matter—he's so invariably and provokingly all right. He's a perfect paragon of propriety, and I shall be sure to do something to shock him. I've half a mind not to go."

"Oh Katherine," interposed her mother, "you must. Harry is depending on your solos."

"Yes, that's another thing. Some one has failed him at the last minute and he wants me to sing another. I hate these concerts for the benefit of something anyway; they're always in some stuffy hall, and there's never a decent piano."

"Well, dear," said her mother, soothingly, "you must just do the best you can. I can't imagine why you feel so about it. Most girls would be delighted with Randolph Payson as an escort."

"Most girls are scared blue of him, just the same. It's enough to 'rile' anybody just to look at him, he's so absolutely faultless."

Katherine was ready at the appointed time, and was alone, the other members of the family, including the maids, having gone out. She was positively nervous about meeting Mr. Payson, and started violently when the bell proclaimed his arrival. She picked up her gloves to go, but to her horror her room door would not open! No, it was not locked, and the knob turned but did not unlatch. Meanwhile the bell rang again. What should she do? Of course she could not make him hear, and she rattled the knob and pounded and pulled to no purpose. She lived in the lower flat of an apartment house, and her room had long windows opening on a small balcony. She rushed out there, only to find that she could not see the front entrance, but she hailed a boy, passing.

"OH," BEGAN CATHERINE, "I TOLD THE BOY NOT TO TELL YOU."

"Boy," she called, "come here if you want to earn a dime." The boy came with alacrity. "Is there a carriage in front of the house?" she asked.

"Yes," said the boy.

"Then please go around to the entrance and tell the gentleman who is at the door of this flat that Miss Harrison cannot come to the door just now, and ask him to please wait a few minutes. Do you understand it?"

"Yes'm," said the boy, and repeated the message. Then he started off.

"Oh," came back a minute. Do you know where the janitor's rooms are? Then please go and ask him to come at once to Flat 1, and fix a door that won't open. Now, don't tell the gentleman that," she added, as she tossed him a dime.

A moment or two later, she heard steps, but instead of the small boy or the janitor, it was Mr. Payson. Her first impulse was to hide, but the glare of the street light made her conspicuous, so he had already seen her. Lifting his hat, he said, "Good evening, Miss Harrison," as calmly as if it was his daily custom to greet from the lawn a young lady on a balcony.

"Oh," began Katherine, "I told the boy not to tell you."

"The boy," said Mr. Payson, gravely, "gave me a rather confused message about the door and waiting and said he was going for the janitor. I insisted on knowing where I might find the young lady who had sent him, and following his directions I am here."

"Yes," said Katherine, confused. "May I ask what the trouble is, and if I can do anything?"

Katherine wanted to tell him he might ask anything if he would only take off that expression of calm disapproval which made her feel as if she were a naughty five-year-old. But she explained matters in an embarrassed, hesitating way, which made her appear more charming even than usual.

"If we had a ladder, Miss Harrison," said Mr. Payson. "Ah! I have a thought. Excuse me; I'll be back in a minute," and he turned quickly away.

"Oh," what will he think of me?" moaned Katherine. "This is awful! and she went into the room for another try at the knob, which, however, proved futile.

The sound of steps called her back to the balcony. What in the world. The carriage, Mr. Payson on the box with the driver, was coming straight toward her. As it stopped, Mr. Payson stood upon the seat, from which he could just reach to climb to the balcony. As he came over the rail, he said:

"We'll just pretend I'm the janitor for a minute, while I see if I can do anything with that refractory door," and he stepped into the room. His entire manner had changed, and Katherine stood in amazement at the vision of the paragon of propriety in her room on his knees before her door-knob. What was more, he was running on with merry nonsense the while, in a way she could not have imagined possible. He was obliged to give up the problem, however, and returned to the balcony.

"I see but one way for you, Miss Harrison. I'll ask the driver to stand at the horses' heads, and if you can climb the rail—it's not very high—I'll stand on the seat and help you down. Can you manage it, do you think?" His eyes were dancing with fun, as he looked into hers. Could it be that the precise Mr. Payson was enjoying this escapade?

"I can do it all right," admitted Katherine, "but, yes, I will. I mustn't disappoint Harry."

"Oh, stop him quick!" she cried. "I've forgotten my music! What a stupid!"

Payson told the driver to turn back, then said:

"I don't wonder that you forgot it. But I'm equal to another raid on your room."

"But it's not my room. Oh, how can I ever get it? It's in the music room."

"You must have it, I suppose?"

"I could get along, but my accompanist—" The carriage stopped at the entrance.

"Is there a balcony off the music room, too?"

"Yes."

"Then that's dead easy if the window is unfastened. If not, glass is brittle." They drove to the side of the house and stopped, by Katherine's directions.

"The music is on the piano in my music-room," said Katherine, as he entered the window.

As they neared their destination, Mr. Payson said:

"Suppose we keep the events of this evening to ourselves, Miss Harrison? Not that you have anything to be ashamed of; but I know what your life will be if Harry Thayer gets hold of what has happened."

"He is an awful tease," said Katherine. "I never thought, but I'd have to explain, though. It's kind of you—if we could avoid telling—"

"Of course we can. It's agreed, then, that it's a secret between us."

Harry had no time to question as he dragged Katherine into the dressing-room, saying:

"I've had to change the programme now, so as to bring your first song later."

"Don't be cross, Thayer," said Payson. "Our delay was absolutely unavoidable, on her part, at least."

"That was generous," thought Katherine. "And almost as if it was his fault."

She was at her best that evening, many telling her they had never heard her sing so well. Harry and Mr. Payson were on their way to her after the concert, when Harry said:

"Much obliged to you, Payson, for escorting Miss Harrison safely here at last. But I'll relieve you now; I can take her home."

"Thayer," said Payson suddenly, "how much claim have you to Miss Harrison?"

"None at all," answered Harry, promptly, "only she's my cousin, and I've always known her."

"Then I take her home," said Payson, decidedly.

"Hope you won't be as long getting there as you were coming here," laughed Harry, adding, as Katherine came toward them: "Mr. Payson insists on finishing up the escorting business, Kit, so I'm out."

As they left the carriage, Mr. Payson said:

"Why did you seem so surprised when Thayer said I was to take you home, Miss Harrison?"

"Why—I thought you must be disgusted with me. I'd made you so much trouble, and I knew you were so particular about—"

"About the proprieties? I have that reputation, I know, and I am. I have no patience with girls who do all sorts of wild things unchaperoned; but this is different. Such a thing might have happened to anyone, and your evident distress proved that you were the kind of a girl I had always thought you were. Anyway, I shall be very glad if I may have the privilege of calling on you and being admitted in a proper manner, not 'climbing up some other way.' May I?"

Katherine assented, and he went on impulsively:

"I heard you say as I left you to get the carriage: 'What will he think of me?' Some time I shall be glad to tell you exactly what I think of you," and his eyes told her then, as she bade him good-night.—American Queen.

PAINFUL PERIODS

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton Street East Savannah, Ga., writes: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

ARMY OF LABOR TAKES A DAY OFF

SOME NOTABLE OBSERVANCES OF ANNUAL HOLIDAY OF AMERICAN TOILERS.

Thousands of Men in Line March Through Streets of Various Cities—A Temple to Labor Is Dedicated in Seattle.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—With nearly 20,000 men in line the trades unionists of Chicago paraded the streets Monday in the annual celebration of Labor day. Marred only by a dispute over the appearance of two so-called unfair bands, which threatened for a time to cause a strike of the union musicians, the long column of workmen was marshaled through the boulevards lined with cheering thousands without serious trouble.

Two Parades in Milwaukee. Milwaukee, Sept. 5.—Labor's annual holiday was celebrated by two large parades, about 10,000 men being in line, one body of marchers being under the jurisdiction of the Federated Trades council, while the other owes allegiance to the Building Trades council. Many women participated.

Last Parade in St. Louis. St. Louis, Sept. 5.—Labor day was celebrated by a parade representing all the lines of trade and industry, and comprising 17,000 men. This may be the last Labor day parade here, as leaders of the labor movement, it is said, are not in favor of the parade feature of the day's celebration, and the parade was carried out this year only by a small vote.

The Day in Indiana. Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5.—According to reports received from all of the larger cities of Indiana, Labor day was more successfully celebrated this year than heretofore. Parades, athletic events, baseball, horse races, speeches by prominent labor leaders were features of the celebration throughout the state.

Labor Temple Dedicated. Seattle, Wash., Sept. 5.—The newly completed $50,000 labor temple was dedicated in this city Monday, immediately following the Labor day parade, the largest affair of its kind ever witnessed in Seattle. After the dedicatory exercises, the building was thrown open to the public, and 8,000 persons passed through the doors.

Rain in New England. Boston, Sept. 5.—A downpour of rain in the forenoon and the wet and muddy condition of the ground in the afternoon necessitated the postponement of the majority of events which had been arranged in celebration of Labor day in New England. The usual Labor day parade here was a disappointment to the leaders, as thousands of union members declined to walk in the rain. Several thousand men, nearly all carrying umbrellas, were in line, however.

Observance in Texas. Houston, Tex., Sept. 5.—Labor day was observed throughout Texas, every city and many of the towns being well organized by the trades unions. The parades were the feature. The reports of the various unions show a good growth of membership in Texas during the year.

FLY-WHEEL BURSTS.

Four Men Killed at the National Tube Company's Works in McKeesport, Pa.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Four men were killed, another is missing, and is supposed to have been blown to pieces, and three more were seriously injured Friday afternoon by the bursting of a fly wheel at the National Tube company, McKeesport, Pa. The explosion occurred Friday afternoon while over 400 men were at work in the mill. The wheel was 55 feet in diameter, and it went to pieces with a loud report, tearing a big hole in the side of the mill and wrecking thousands of dollars' worth of machinery. The explosion caused much excitement, and hundreds of people were attracted to the plant.

RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT.

Preparations in Washington for Demonstration in Honor of Mr. Roosevelt.

Washington, Sept. 2.—H. L. West, one of the commissioners of the District of Columbia, has notified President Roosevelt of the desire of the people of Washington to tender him a public reception upon his return here in recognition of his services in bringing the Portsmouth conference to a successful termination. The president does not object to the plans. He will be met here with even a more marked demonstration than the reception given him two years ago upon his return from the west. So far as plans have been suggested, they contemplate a street parade, but no speech making.

The President's Plans. Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 4.—Arrangements have already been shaped in a tentative way for the return of President Roosevelt to Washington. Such business as is not of a pressing nature is being postponed until the president can take it up directly with his cabinet officers at the white house. At present it is the president's intention to leave Oyster Bay for Washington on Saturday morning, September 30.

Thousands of Houses Burned. Constantinople, Sept. 5.—Fire at Adrianople Saturday caused enormous damage. Seven thousand houses were destroyed in the Greek, Armenian, Bulgarian and Jewish quarters. There were many victims.

Honored by the President.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 5.—President Roosevelt Monday afternoon announced officially the appointment of Robert Bacon, of New York, to be first assistant secretary of state, to succeed Francis B. The announcement was accompanied by the statement that Mr. Bacon would not assume the duties of his office for some time, perhaps until about the middle of October, after Secretary Root has become settled in the office of secretary of state.

You Must Sleep.

If you cannot, it is due to an irritated or congested state of the brain, which will soon develop into nervous prostration. Nature demands sleep, and it is as important as food; it is a part of her building and sustaining process. This period of unconsciousness relaxes the mental and physical strain, and allows nature to restore exhausted vitality.

Dr. Miles' Nerve brings refreshing sleep, because it soothes the irritation and removes the congestion.

It is also a nerve builder; it nourishes and strengthens every nerve in your body, and creates energy in all the organs. Nothing will give strength and vitality as surely and quickly as Dr. Miles' Nerve.

"During the past winter I had two attacks of LaGrippe which left me very weak, and in bad condition. I was so nervous I could not sleep. My wife, after trying different remedies, went for a doctor. The doctor was out, and a neighbor recommended Dr. Miles' Nerve, and she brought home a bottle. I had not slept for some time, and had terrible pains in my head. After taking a few doses of Nerve the pain was not so severe, and I slept. I am now taking the second bottle, and am very much improved."

HENRY M. SMITH, Underhill, Vt.

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

Quit Kicking and Begin Boosting

Often you feel like kicking. Some people urged on probably by a jaundiced liver are protesting against the entry of furniture factories or other wood working factories in Holland.

Well that is not strange. There were people who bucked when some of the enterprising were doing what they could to get an interurban railway here; there were others who stormed when the matter of installing an electric light plant was up for consideration; others fumed when sewers were threatened; others rent the heavens with shoutings when paved streets were contemplated; and still others wept when the gas plant was given a franchise. But all of them have been brought to see the error of their ways and their jaundiced liver has been cured by laughter. So will it be with the factories. We cannot get too many of them. Grand Rapids kept on getting them until it is now called the Furniture City and still it is reaching out for more.

Of course it would be a good thing if we could get iron working industries or something of so mechanical a turn that there would be more of a demand for skilled labor with consequent increase in salaries. Nobody denies that. But if we cannot get exactly what we want, let us get what we can, especially if it is nearly as good—and always desirable withal.

Bryan Sees That Hope College Gets $500

Through the kindness and thoughtfulness of Wm. J. Bryan Hope College will receive from the Philo Sherman Bennett fund five hundred dollars.

When Mr. Bryan lectured at Winants Chapel over a year ago he displayed great interest in Hope and took occasion during his address to pay a hearty tribute to the so called small colleges, and this tangible proof of his interest is received with great appreciation by all connected with the institution. Dr. G. J. Kollen received the following letter from Col. Bryan:

"I beg to inform you that I have selected Hope college as one of the colleges to participate in the fund left to me as trustee by the late Philo Sherman Bennett, of New Haven, Conn., for the aid of poor and deserving boys in obtaining an education. I enclose a receipt for $500. Upon its return, signed by the proper officer and accompanied by a paper showing that he was authorized to agree to the conditions named in the receipt, a draft for the amount will be forwarded to you. Hoping that the fund thus established may be of increasing advantage to your community, I am, Very sincerely yours, "W. J. Bryan."

Under date of Aug. 30 Mr. Bryan writes: "Dr. G. J. Kollen, Holland, Mich.—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in enclosing draft for the $500 promised to your college from the Philo Sherman Bennett fund for the purpose of aiding poor and deserving boys in obtaining an education. Please acknowledge receipt of this by return mail, and oblige, Yours very truly, "W. J. Bryan."

Allegan Pastor Found Not Guilty

The trial of the Rev. George R. Arnold, pastor of the M. E. church of Allegan on the charge of slander preferred by Attorney Perle Fouch, was concluded Friday afternoon with a verdict of not guilty.

After wrangling until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Justice Fred McOmber of Monterey, and Justice A. M. Pollett were selected to sit with Justice Cook. The justices found the minister not guilty of the charges.

Fouch's principal witnesses were Julius M. Ward and his wife who, Fouch alleged in his complaint, stated Arnold had told them that Fouch had a wife and child living in Chicago.

Ward swore that if he understood the minister right, he made such a statement. His wife swore that Arnold told them he was told such a story, but did not believe it. It was also developed that Ward had a stroke of paralysis some time ago and his wife stated she did not believe him responsible.

Rev. Arnold has been instrumental in having a fine new church building erected, which was dedicated Sunday. Yet there is one of the biggest kinds of a church quarrel going on among his congregation, and the presiding elder has been unable to stop it up to the present time. The minister is highly educated and has an excellent family.

The capital of the company is $200,000, all paid in.

It is the purpose of the company to enter at once into extensive improvements. The mains will be extended here and when the improvements are all made in this city the work of extending the service to Macatawa Park and Zeeland will be considered.

Saugatuck

The frame house on the farm of George Babcock, north of Saugatuck, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Nearly all the furniture was saved, but the house was burned to the ground. The loss is estimated between $4,000 and $5,000, partially covered by insurance. It is believed the fire started from the kitchen stove or the chimney, the blaze being first seen about 1 o'clock. All the neighbors turned out to give all possible aid, and 25 men went from Saugatuck to help, but the fire had gained too great headway to be controlled with the inefficient facilities for fire fighting. The barn was saved. A hay stack near the barn burned, but the volunteer fire department kept the flames from reaching the barn. Mr. Babcock is well known in this city, and his fruit farm is numbered among the best in this section of the state.

Miss Allport who has been spending the summer at Maple Grove returned to Chicago Monday.

Mrs. Henrick, Mr. and Mrs. Nellis of Chicago spent Sunday and Labor Day at Wind Crest Grange, Mrs. Haub's pretty place east of town.

Grand Haven

Monday, while the ten months old child of Marinus VanWeelden was being wheeled along on Fifth street near Jackson, the cab was overturned and the baby thrown into the ditch. The child came near being drowned and when taken out was blue in the face. It was some time before it was fully restored. Mr. VanWeelden says that he has repeatedly called the attention of city officials to the dangerous condition of this ditch but they have paid no attention to his complaint. The work on the Story & Clark Piano Company's big addition in this city is being done as rapidly as the weather will permit, but in spite of the delays, the carpenters and the masons have succeeded in getting up the first story of the structure on the entire north wing and part of the First street portion.

COUNCIL ADOPTS BUDGET AND FIXES TAX RATE

At last night's meeting of the common council the general budget for the ensuing fiscal year was adopted. The total amount is $45,583 as against $44,863 last year. The amount for school purposes is $22,000. Estimating the state and county tax the same as two years ago when it was $21,470 makes a total of regular taxes of $89,053. This will make a tax rate of $1.631 per $100 as against $1.595 rate of last year.

The council established two new funds, a general street fund and a police fund which were heretofore bunched in the general fund.

Action was taken to care for the work of fighting the San Jose scale. The inspectors petitioned for an allowance of not to exceed $40 and their petition was granted.

The proposition of buying a steam roller was tabled. The vote on the motion to table was:

Ayes—Nies, Hayes, VanZanten, Prakkens, Stephan.

Nays—Van Tongeren, Dyke, Hensen, Postma, Kirklof.

The vote being a tie the Mayor voted to table. This puts the matter where it can be reached at any time, but it is likely several months will elapse before it is again considered.

The clerk and city attorney reported recommending that the lease between the City of Holland and Mrs. Gertrude I. Yates be approved. Adopted.

The clerk was instructed to notify J. W. Bosman to have the old Markel building removed from his premises on Central Ave. within two weeks.

On motion of Ald. Postma the clerk was instructed to notify H. J. Poppen to have his building removed from lot on East 8th street within two weeks.

The council adjourned until Friday evening.

DEADLY ENGLISH SPORTS.

Natives of South Africa Try Rowing with Results Somewhat Disastrous.

Wherever an Englishman finds his way he leaves traces behind in the form of his favorite sport or pastime. Civilization of this kind has just touched the Zambesi, and the natives are reported to have taken kindly to a regatta, says Stray Stories.

Some of the events were interfered with by what might be termed local elements, or example the eight-oar boat race was scarcely a conspicuous success, owing to a stampede of elephants into the water at the start.

As a result, only one boat was left to complete the course, and that one was bitten in half by a hippopotamus when about half distance.

In the crocodile race a protest was lodged in consequence of the winning reptile arriving home with his jockey inside, having accidentally swallowed him for safety during a collision.

The natives engaged in the sailing match fell in with an unfriendly tribe half way down the river, and landed to settle outstanding differences. This happened two months ago, and if none of the boats put in appearance before the close of the year the time limit clause will enable the committee to cancel the race.

If the rate of mortality maintained by the last regatta is upheld, statisticians estimate that three more of these riverside festivals may be held before the tribe becomes extinct.

JOKE OF ENGLISH LAWYER.

Writes Satirical Tale the Title of Which Catches an American Librarian.

"How I Became a Judge; Being the Reminiscences of the Honorable Mr. Justice Rater," is the title of an amusing little book written by a satirical lawyer recently.

The humorous sketches of life at the bar was widely appreciated and quickly passed through three editions. A copy found its way to the library of congress, Washington, and one of the librarians plainly jumped to the conclusion that Justice Rater is a real, live ornament to the English bench. At any rate, the librarian addressed a reply-paid postal card to the author in care of his publishers, thus:

"Justice Chumley Rater, care of J. B. Nichols & Sons, parliament mansions, Victoria street S. W., London, England."

Justice Chumley Rater was asked to furnish the librarian with a brief autobiography and the titles of any others of his published works so that they could be catalogued in the library of congress.

Moral—When English jokes are exported to America they should be labeled.

SENDS POTATOES BY MAIL

Novel Method of Saving Fourteen Cents a Pound Found by Alaska Man.

John R. Dodsop, an Alaska miner, bought 50 pounds of potatoes and ordered them sent to Mastodon, Alaska, by United States mail, says a Portland (Ore.) report.

He paid $10.50 for the lot and for their carriage by mail into the interior of the northern territory, which will make the "spuds" cost 21 cents a pound laid down at their destination.

At that price he saved 14 cents a pound on the price in the markets there.

"It is not the saving in expense that induced me to do this," said Dodsop. "Up there we don't go to much bother to save seven dollars. But we are anxious to illustrate to the people of the United States how the government is holding back the development of Alaska, and when I tell you what the Canadian government is doing for the Klondike country, just across the line, then the people will understand that something is wrong with the Alaskan policy of this country."

Korean Curiosity.

Oriental gardeners are adepts at plant tricks, but one of the unique productions of the Korean gardener is a natural armchair, in which the required shape was attained during the growth of the vine. Almost from the time the first tiny shoot appeared the vine had been carefully treated in anticipation of the use to which it was to be put. By the time it attained its growth it was formed into a perfect rustic arm chair, studded with the seeds of the ginko tree, which had grown into the fibres of the wood, as ornaments. All of the joints were made by grafting, so that the chair is practically in one solid piece, and after it had attained a growth of some three feet it was cut and dried. When thoroughly seasoned it was polished, the wood taking a finish like mahogany, and it forms the only complete chair grown upon the plant.

Patchouli.

The patchouli plant is a native of India and China, where it is quite common. It is also grown successfully in Ceylon, Paraguay and the French possessions of La Reunion. The leaves and branches possess a musk-like perfume, and upon distillation furnish the essence of patchouli. It resembles the sage plant in height and form, but its leaves are less fleshy.

Real or Fancied Rats.

"What can I do for you, sir?" asked the drug clerk. "Well," replied the man, "my room was full of rats last night and I want—" "Yes, sir," interrupted the bright clerk, "bromo for yourself or strychnine for them?"—Catholic Standard.

TO MAKE MUSCULAR MAIDS

Club of English Women Seeks to Purify and Develop Strength in Women.

The maids of Blackburn are making a supreme effort in regard to the development of the race, reports the London Express.

They have organized a club under the name of the Blackburn and District Ladies' Natural Health society, and they have a membership of about 40.

"The society," said the secretary, "aims at the development of a purer and nobler womanhood and manhood."

The specific objects of the club are: To discourage the wearing of corsets, to discourage the unnecessary physical weakness of women, to promote the consideration of the health question, to cultivate a proper pride regarding the care of the body, to discourage prudery and ignorance regarding vital physical facts, to foster a love for outdoor exercise as a means to develop health and strength, and to discourage the use of tobacco and intoxicants among male friends and acquaintances.

All young unmarried girls residing in Blackburn and district are eligible for membership provided they subscribe to the principles of the society.

A field has been rented by the club for the purpose of engaging in outdoor sports and an instructress in gymnastics has been engaged to take the members in hand in the winter months. It is proposed to establish a library of books on all matters appertaining to physical culture, health and hygiene.

AN AUTOMOBILE IN FIJI.

Enlists the Admiring Interest of the Dusky Monarch of the Islands.

Charles J. Glidden, the world-touring automobilist, tells some interesting stories about the king of the Fiji islands, who received the American tourist very graciously, and was only sorry that he could not stay longer, so as to give the dusky monarch more rides over his seabound domains.

"The king was educated in Sydney, Australia, and is a very gentlemanly fellow," said Mr. Glidden, "considering the fact that his father was a cannibal. He had never seen a motor car before I landed mine on the island, but he possessed some of the up-to-date enthusiasm on the subject, for his first question was: 'Can it go 60 miles an hour?' I couldn't go fast enough for him, which was in marked contrast with the sultan of Java, who wouldn't let me go faster than four miles an hour, and it was the most difficult driving I had to do on my whole tour. The Fijian king is as black as the ace of spades. The old cannibal days of Fiji are passing away, however, for one of the first things I saw on landing was a low house with a big sign reading: 'American Iced Drinks.' Not so far away from home, after all, I thought. It's a warm place, and iced drinks ought to pay."

ANXIOUS FOR HIS DIVORCE

Applicant Was Willing to Furnish Ample Grounds If They Were Lacking.

A Rhode Island lawyer, who devotes much of his attention to the procurement of divorces, according to the New York Times, tells the following:

"One day there entered my office a prosperous-looking German, who, without much preliminary conversation, stated that he wanted a divorce. Suffice it to say that the mass of facts elicited from the applicant would have served to obtain several divorces. At that, it was a toss-up as to whether the man or his wife was the better entitled to a judicial separation. So I hinted to the German that it might be well for him to allow the woman to get the divorce. 'She's a woman, you know,' I added, 'and it would be wiser for both of you.'"

"The man gazed anxiously at me for some minutes. Then he exclaimed, excitedly:

"You think I had done enough to her already, eh?"

"Certainly," answered I.

"Because," he added, eagerly, 'if I hadn't, den I'll go and hit her once now!'"

What's the Use?

Lying in a hammock in a shady nook, listening to the laughter of a babbling brook; sipping cool juleps, dreaming time away, wouldn't this be lovely on a summer day? Listening to the wind sighs, through the swaying leaves, watching where the sunbeam and the shadow weaves; smell the fragrant blossoms, hear the songsters sing, who could dream of anything—but what's the use? The best we get is a lilac bush in the back yard.—Will F. Griffin, in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Cattle Curiously Poisoned.

A curious poisoning of cattle from a stamp mill has come to light in Arizona. The cattle, which drink from a stream carrying the discharge of a quartz stamp mill, became sick, and an investigation disclosed that they had lead poisoning. An analysis of the water showed a faint trace of arsenic, somewhat more copper and 2.64 to 3.21 per cent. of white carbonate lead.

WOMEN'S SYMPATHY.

Is Pro erbial—Holland, Women No Exception.

How much we owe to the sympathetic side of womankind! When others suffer they cheerfully lend a helping hand. They tell you the means which brought relief to them that you may profit by their experience. Read the testimony given by a Holland woman.

Mrs. M. Shoraker, 256 West Fifteenth street, says: "I suffered from constant heavy aching pains across the small of my back so that I could not rest comfortably at night in any position, and in the day I felt tired and languid. The kidney secretions became badly affected, irregular, too frequent, scanty and were attended by a good deal of pain besides depositing a heavy sediment. I suffered also from headaches and spells of dizziness so that I either had to sit down or hold on to something from falling. I used a great many different remedies but without obtaining any benefit. Friends advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and used them. They helped me from the very start. They are the best remedy I ever tried and I have no hesitation in recommending them.

Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." W. C. Walsh druggist, sells and guarantees them, at 50c a bottle.

THE MARRYING OF HENRIETTA.

"You must bring her to her senses, Albert."

Mrs. Vernon was rubbing her glasses vigorously and looked very stern. Albert, the broad-shouldered giant with the big boots and big hands, looked as if he were trying to find a convenient mousehole to escape into.

Now, the hour of the afternoon coffee, the best hour of all the day, had been spoiled for him. To his mind there was no better or pleasanter spot in all the world than the old-fashioned round coffee table in front of the horsehair covered sofa in his mother's room. It was all ugly and out of fashion, according to the taste of the day, and he could never explain to anyone why he preferred this old-fashioned room to the most elegant salon in the whole neighborhood.

"But, mother," the giant began. "There is no but," the old lady interrupted him quickly. "You know Bertha sent the girl to us that she might get over her foolish infatuation for her music teacher. And that was the wisest thing she ever did. Henrietta, who was pale and miserable when she came to us, now looks a picture of health with her rosy cheeks and smiling eyes, and with pleasure I have noticed the interest she takes in the affairs of the estate. She will make a splendid housewife, and the proposal of Dr. Brunner is a godsend. Henrietta is very poor. Bertha will hardly be able to give her a decent trousseau, and it would be a great wrong if we did not do all we can to make her accept him. Dr. Brunner is a fine man, and although he is 38, he is by no means too old for her."

"Mother," Albert exclaimed, radiant with joy, "I have an idea. If Henrietta does not love Dr. Brunner, she might stay with us forever."

"Oh, you silly boy," Mrs. Vernon replied, reproachfully, "how could that be done? I am old and may die any day, and then she could not possibly stay with you, even admitting that you are not at all dangerous."

Albert looked exceedingly unhappy, and the piece of coffee-cake he had just bitten off nearly got stuck in his throat at the thought that his mother might die, and that Henrietta could not stay with him.

"I have noticed that she lays great weight on what you say," the old lady continued, "so now please speak to her that we may soon give Dr. Brunner an answer."

"Well, I shall see what I can do, mother." Then he walked slowly out of the room.

He found Henrietta in the sheepfold. She was perched on a beam, her feet hanging down, and was munching a sandwich. Albert looked greatly relieved. He had expected to find her excited or crying. He thought he had never seen anything so beautiful as her rosy face under her fur cap. He went up to her.

"Miss Henrietta," he began, "I suppose you have not thought of marrying."

"If you could only forget him—the music teacher." Here he stopped and did not know what to say. Greatly to his relief she broke out laughing.

"Oh, he is nothing to me. I know too well that he was a humbug with his long locks and continuous posing."

"You are a sensible girl; you will be very happy with a good, loving, honest man, don't you think?"

Henrietta looked at him with a queer expression in her pretty face, and he felt all the blood rushing to his cheeks.

From that day a change had come over the two young persons. In the eyes of the girl was a strange expression of great happiness, while Albert seemed to be greatly depressed. His mother noticed both with a quiet smile, but whenever she asked Albert if he thought Henrietta would come around he evaded giving an answer.

And then the spring came. The snow was gone and the green lawn around the old mansion was like a soft carpet. The apple trees were in full blossom and everything told of the awakening of nature to new life under the kisses of the sun.

"I think we will ask Dr. Brunner to come here to dinner on Sunday; it is time he had his answer," Mrs. Vernon said to her son one day.

"I do not see why you are in such a hurry, mother. Give her a little time to think it over," Albert replied, rather vexed, and hurriedly left the room.

Behind the hawthorn, between the garden and the green grass fields, he found Henrietta.

"Have you thought it over, Henrietta?" he said, with a great effort.

Henrietta trembled and turned pale. She nodded and looked down on the flowers in her hand. He felt his heart grow heavy. He took her hand and tried to say something, but the lump in his throat made it impossible to say another word. Henrietta sighed and burst out crying.

"That was more than he could stand. 'Henrietta, dear little Henrietta, don't cry,' he stammered, and without knowing it, he took her in his arms and two soft arms were around his neck as he kissed her lips again and again. He suddenly understood that he had been unhappy all these weeks for nothing, and that Henrietta had loved him even before he understood his own feelings."

"Mother," he said, later, "I have been an ass."

"Well, that I have always known," his mother replied, in a most sincere tone.

"I have loved Henrietta from the very first day, but I never thought that she could care for me. First, there was the music teacher and then the doctor."

"It was rather hard to arouse you to do something. I had read both of you long ago, and if it had not been for Brunner I suppose you would still be—"

"No, mother, it was not Dr. Brunner. It was the awakening of spring that did it."—Baltimore American.

TERMS OF PEACE

Japan Yields Disputed Points and Envoys Reach Agreement.

No Indemnity for War Losses—Island of Sakhalin to Be Divided.

Formal Treaty Is Completed—A Synopsis of Its Most Important Provisions.

Cessation of Hostilities, Pending Ratification, Agreed Upon By Czar and Mikado.

Both Rulers Warmly Thank President Roosevelt for Bringing About End of War.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 30.—The long and bloody war between Japan and Russia is ended. The terms of peace were settled by Mr. Witte and Baron Komura at the session of the conference Tuesday morning, and in the afternoon preliminary arrangements for an armistice were concluded, and the actual work of framing the "Treaty of Portsmouth" was by mutual agreement turned over to Mr. De Martens, Russia's great international lawyer, and Mr. Dennison, who for 25 years has acted as the legal advisor of the Japanese foreign office.

For the sake of peace, the Japanese with a magnanimity worthy of their heroic achievements in this war, met the ultimatum of the czar and abandoned their demands, not only for reimbursement for the cost of the war, but for the repurchase of the northern half of Sakhalin, Russia at the same time agreeing to division of the island. The Japanese also withdrew articles 10 and 11 of the peace conditions originally proposed (demand for the surrender of the interned warships and limitation of the Russian naval power in the far east). Japan agreed that only that portion of the Chinese eastern railroad south of Chantfu, the position occupied by Oyama, should be ceded to Japan.

Summary of Treaty.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 4.—The envoys of Japan and Russia have completed the work of making peace. The document only awaits their signatures and ratification by the czar and the mikado. The treaty contains 17 articles. It will be disappointing to the American public particularly because it fails to contain formal recognition by the contracting powers of the principles of the integrity or the administrative entity by China. By the restoration of Manchuria to China it observes Chinese integrity. It provides for the maintenance of the "open door" only in Manchuria.

The treaty will outline the Russian and Japanese policies on the subjoined subjects:

General Peace.

There shall be perpetual peace and friendship between his majesty the emperor of Japan and his majesty the emperor of Russia and between their respective subjects, who shall enjoy equally in the respective countries of the high contracting parties full and entire protection of their persons and property.

Japan pledges herself to maintain intact the integrity and independence of Korea. Russia recognizes that Japan has preponderant interests in that kingdom. Russian subjects and commerce shall have in Korea the right of the most favored nation.

Russia transfers to Japan, with the assent of China, the lease of Port Arthur and the Liaotung peninsula and islands covered by the lease.

Evacuation of Manchuria.

Japan and Russia agree to evacuate simultaneously the province of Manchuria, which shall be retroceded to the exclusive governmental and administrative authority of China. Russia surrenders all exclusive rights in Manchuria and agrees with Japan not to make any effort to acquire in the future exclusive privileges of any kind. If China grant any concessions or privileges in Manchuria to one power they will be enjoyed by other powers without objection on the part of either Russia or Japan.

Agree as to Sakhalin.

Russia cedes to Japan all rights and interest in the Chinese Eastern railroad, connecting Port Arthur and Kuengdzse, and will not oppose construction of the Kirin branch. Japan recognizes Russia's rights in the trans-Manchurian line, and will take no action which will affect them. This line, as well as the Port Arthur-Kuengdzse line, shall be used only for commercial purposes. The two powers mutually agree to do nothing to prevent freedom of traffic over the lines.

Russia cedes to Japan that portion of the island of Sakhalin lying south of the fiftieth parallel and accords to Japan the right of commercial and industrial exploitation of the island. The two powers mutually agree not to fortify the island and that the straits of La Perouse shall remain open to navigation without restriction or hindrance.

Russia cedes to Japan's subjects equal fishing rights with her own along the Siberian littoral.

There shall be immediate exchange of prisoners. Each power will appoint two commissioners, who will consent as to the cost of maintenance. The bills, when prepared, shall be examined and the difference paid by the power having the larger.

Commercial Relations.

The commercial treaty in force before the war shall enter into operation upon the ratification of the treaty. Russia engages to enter into negotiations with Japan for a commercial treaty upon the basis of the most favored nation treatment.

The treaty shall be ratified by his majesty, the emperor of Japan, and his majesty, the emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, as soon as possible, and at least within 50 days after the date of the signature.

Czar Thanks President.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 1.—News of the receipt by President Roosevelt of a cablegram of thanks and congratulations from Czar Nicholas has put the pessimists to utter rout. Those who could see no prospect of peace at any time during the conference, and who Wednesday predicted that Russia would repudiate the terms and plunge again into war, have had the last prop for their pessimism knocked from under them.

The cablegram received by the president at Oyster Bay is as follows:

"Peterhof, Alexandria, Aug. 31.—President Roosevelt: Accept my congratulations and warmest thanks for having brought the peace negotiations to a successful conclusion, owing to your personal energetic efforts. My country will gratefully recognize the great part you have played in the Portsmouth peace conference.

Mikado Expresses Gratitude. Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 4.—President Roosevelt on Sunday received the following cablegram from the emperor of Japan:

"Tokio, Sept. 3, 1905.—The President: I have received with gratification your message of congratulations conveyed through our plenipotentiaries and thank you warmly for it. To your disinterested and unrelenting efforts in the interests of peace and humanity I attach the high value which is their due, and assure you of my grateful appreciation of the distinguished part you have taken in the establishment of peace based upon principles essential to the permanent welfare and tranquility of the far east.

"MUTSUHITO."

Armistice Agreed To. Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 2.—An armistice has been signed to take effect after signature of the treaty. The delay in cessation of hostilities was due to refusal of Japan to consent to earlier time.

STRANGE PHENOMENON.

Sudden Upheaval of Mountain in Mexico Causes People to Flee in Terror.

Mexico City, Sept. 5.—News from the state of Michoacan, Mex., says that a great volcanic upheaval threatens the city and valley of San Lucas. The people are fleeing in terror. The entire side of a precipice on a mountain called Cerro Dolores, about 200 feet square, suddenly took an upward movement and great masses of rock broken loose by the upheaval fell into the valley with a thundering noise. For 15 days the movement was plainly discernible.

Boy Makes Confession.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 5.—George Toal, aged nine, of McKeesport, confessed to the coroner here that he had thrown the stone into a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train at McKeesport on July 17 last which killed Albert P. ENVOYS SIGN THE TREATY OF PEACE

PLENIPOTENTIARIES END THE BLOODIEST WAR OF MODERN TIMES.

EVENT IS SIGNALIZED BY SALUTE OF GUNS

Bells of Portsmouth and Neighboring Towns Ring as Sign of Satisfaction—Summary of Pact to Which Rulers Have Agreed.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 5.—The simple ceremony of signing the peace treaty between Japan and Russia took place at 3:47 Tuesday afternoon. The conference hall in the navy yard, which has been the scene of the diplomatic battle, was the place where the plenipotentiaries of the two empires affixed their signatures to the document which is to end the bloodiest war of modern times. Mr. Witte was the first to affix his signature.

The envoys appeared at the navy yard in frock coats and silk hats. Most of the members of both suites were present. The naval and military officers wore their special full dress uniforms.

A salute of 18 guns from the navy yard signaled the signing of the treaty. As soon as the firing of the salute was heard all the church bells at Newcastle and Kittery and Portsmouth were rung as a sign of joy for about ten minutes, while flags were hoisted and general satisfaction was manifested.

Summary of the Treaty.

The peace treaty opens with a preamble, reciting that his majesty, the emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, and his majesty, the emperor of Japan, desiring to close the war now subsisting between them, and having appointed their respective plenipotentiaries, and furnished them with full powers, which were found to be in form, have come to an agreement on a treaty of peace and arranged as follows:

Article 1. Stipulates for the reestablishment of peace and friendship between the sovereigns of the two empires and between the subjects of Russia and Japan respectively.

Article 2. His majesty, the emperor of Russia, recognizes the preponderant interest from political, military and economical points of view of Japan in the empire of Korea and stipulates that Russia will not oppose any measures for its government, protection or control that Japan will deem necessary to take in Korea in conjunction with the Korean government, but Russian subjects and Russian enterprises are to enjoy the same status as the subjects and enterprises of other countries.

Evacuation of Manchuria.

Article 3. It is mutually agreed that the territory of Manchuria be simultaneously evacuated by both Russian and Japanese troops. Both countries being concerned in this evacuation, their situations being absolutely identical. All rights acquired by private persons and companies shall remain intact.

Article 4. The rights possessed by Russia in conformity with the lease by Russia of Port Arthur and Dalny, together with the lands and waters adjacent, shall pass over in their entirety to Japan, but the properties and rights of Russian subjects are to be safeguarded and respected.

Article 5. The governments of Russia and Japan engage themselves reciprocally not to put any obstacles to the general measures (which shall be alike for all nations) that China may take for the development of the commerce and industry of Manchuria.

Article 6. The Manchurian railway shall be operated jointly between Russia and Japan at Kouangtchengse. The two branch lines shall be employed only for commercial and industrial purposes. However, the rights of private parties or private enterprises are to be respected. Both parties to this treaty remain absolutely free to undertake what they deem fit on expropriated ground.

This article recites the situation of Russian subjects on the southern part of Sakhalin island and stipulates that Russian colonists there shall be free and shall have the right to remain without changing their nationality. Per contra, the Japanese government shall have the right to force Russian convicts to leave the territory which is ceded to her.

Article 11. Russia engages herself to make an agreement with Japan, giving to Japanese subjects the right to fish in Russian territorial waters of the sea of Japan, the sea of Okhotsk and Behring sea.

Article 12. The two high contracting parties engage themselves to renew the commercial treaty existing between the two governments prior to the war in all its vigor, with slight modifications in details and with a most favored nation clause.

Article 13. Russia and Japan reciprocally engage to retribute their prisoners of war on paying the real cost of keeping the same, such claim for cost to be supported by documents.

Article 14. This peace treaty shall be drawn up in two languages, French and English, the French text being evidence for the Russians, and the English text for the Japanese. In case of difficulty of interpretation, the French document to be final evidence.

Article 15. The ratification of this treaty shall be countersigned by the sovereigns of the two states within 50 days after its signature. The French and American embassies shall be intermediaries between the Japanese and Russian governments to announce by telegraph the ratification of the treaty.

At the expiration of the 18 months the two parties will only be able to leave as guards for the railway 15 soldiers per kilometer.

Article 2. The boundary which limits the parts owned respectively by Russia and Japan in the Sakhalin island shall be definitely marked off on the spot by a special limitographic commission.

Mr. Witte added that he felt sure that the good relations between the two countries would be maintained and knit even closer under the regime of Baron de Rosen. Later Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira paid a similar call, and thanked the governor for his kindness to them.

One of the things talked of by horsemen these days is the idea of having McKinley and Camelia trot a match race at the Holland fair. This would be a big event. When these two swift ones met last fall the race was 1/2 mile heats and Camelia had it on McKinley a shade; for McKinley is at his best in the last 1/4 mile and not the first half. Camelia, however, shines most in the half mile race as she generally grows faint hearted at the finish of the regulation mile race. It would be great sport to see these two fast ones meet at the home town of their respective trainers.

Prof. Peet of Lewis Institute, the noted geologist, is visiting John Nies at Fred Wade's cabin at the mouth. In describing the game of baseball between the Bissells of Grand Rapids and the Douglas Club the Saugatuck Commercial Record has the following about a Holland boy: "Babe" Waldren, a young lad from Holland was in the box for Douglas and pitched one of the best games ever seen here striking out 13 men, his best piece of work was in the 11th inning when he struck out three men."

The Wisconsin Memorial Academy of Cedar Grove, Wis., has good news for its friends. The first is that the Rev. G. H. Hospers, of Cleveland, Ohio, has accepted the principalship of the institution. The second bit of good news is that a friend of the school, one whose grandchildren have been immeasurably blessed by the school, has been led to present the board with a noble and much needed gift, namely, a house and large plot of ground. Steps are being taken to secure funds to make the house a suitable dwelling place for the new principal and his family.

Fred Wade, postmaster of Saugatuck lands hard on Wesley Bradfield of the department of agricultural at Washington in an article in which he answers the statements made by Mr. Bradfield that the cut at Saugatuck was being made in the wrong place. Mr. Wade argues that the sand dunes travel to the south and east but never north. He concedes that the new channel will have to be dredged annually but the conditions which make this annual dredging necessary are not caused by sand blowing in the channels of the rivers. He says further: "This is proven by the fact that at such harbors as South Haven and Holland where there are no sand dunes to speak of and where there is no perceptible current flowing into the lake, sand bars form more quickly and to a greater extent than elsewhere. The sand bars which form such an impediment to navigation are caused mainly by the strong currents which occasionally sweep up and down this shore of the lake. During the prevalence of storms these currents carry much sand, and meeting the obstruction of the harbor piers the sand is deposited and forms bars. Were the dredging at Holland to be suspended for a single season that harbor would become impassable for any craft larger than a row boat. The new channel at this place, which cuts off about two miles of the river, was decided on after the most exhaustive surveys and patient examination by men schooled in harbor work and fully acquainted with local conditions. Where did Mr. Wesley Bradfield acquire so much and such superior knowledge?"

This globe is manufactured by the Fosoria Incandescent Lamp Co. of Fostoria, Ohio, the firm for which Mr. Trott travels.

The work on the piers of the new harbor is nearing completion. The break in the north pier which was caused last winter by the elements is now being repaired and at the same time men are at work on the land end of the structure. The plans were changed since the contract was made, the contractors agreeing to put in longer sheet piling at the outer ends of the piers if they would be allowed to build 100 feet further inland. If they decide to build the extra 100 feet it will make 1402 feet of pier that Burke, Smith & Nelson put in. — Saugatuck Commercial Record.

In Justice VanDuren's court last Friday the trial of John Kats of Zeeland was adjourned until tomorrow. The Zeeland Record gives the following version of the trouble: "John Kats of Zeeland was arrested last Thursday on the charge of assault and battery committed upon Chas. Faber of Vriesland the previous night. Faber is a young gospel worker and according to the story of Mr. Kats has been making himself very much to home on the Kats premises since last spring. He requested Faber to leave the place and keep away time and again, but the latter paid no heed when he requested him to accomplish farm labor to balance his board, but this did not appear to be Faber's calling. On Wednesday night of last week Kats assisted him off the premises and hence the arrest."

D. C. Oggel, one of the pioneer residents of this city, died Wednesday afternoon of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. A. Kanter, after an illness of several weeks. In an open letter Geo. P. Hummer of this city comes out in the following vigorous manner against the holding of furniture expositions such as are held in Grand Rapids twice a year: "I cannot be too emphatic in saying that I believe the whole exposition business for the purpose of exhibiting and selling goods on the part of manufacturers in the most grievous evil that has come or could come to their business. The West Michigan Furniture company stands ready to abandon all expositions if one-half of the manufacturers of case goods will do the same. To our mind the abandonment of the January exposition would accomplish some good results, but the greatest evil would still remain with having expositions at all, and we most earnestly trust that the manufacturers of case goods, at least, will soon wake up to a realization of what the expositions means to them and will with practical unanimity decide to cut off this excrescence not only for the January exposition but for all times."

Once in a while you see a local or an advertisement to the effect that something special is being exploited by James A. Brouwer at his furniture store on River street, but you should never overlook the fact that whether special articles are mentioned or not there are always special reasons why you should go to Brouwers to buy your furniture. These special reasons appeal to all. They are right prices for the right line of goods and business treatment that appeals to all on account of the inherent fairness. And that is why people keep on buying at Brouwers.

The Zeeland Record never lags when it comes to booming the great national game. In the last issue it says in part: "The public is anxious to know what has become of the Zeeland team of late because they play so few games and the games that are played are lost. The reasons are these: In the first place all the games of late have been played in hostile territory and any team loses more games on the road than they do on their home grounds. In the second place the team cannot play at home because the people do not patronize the games and therefore the boys do not make expenses. Zeeland has always had the reputation of supporting a strong base ball team and why should it be lost? Now, Zeeland has always kept the boys in the right path in keeping out the saloons, pool rooms, etc., but why should the clean, healthy, national game be deserted? People who never come to see a game and hammer should throw away their hammers and root for the boys that have 'Ottawa County Championship' labeled all over them."

Heber Walsh, the well known druggist is very ill. An operation was performed yesterday from which he rallied, and last night he rested quite comfortably.

Some time ago Mrs. Edward J. Liendecker of Saugatuck cut one of her fingers slightly with a knife and it began to inflame. She was advised to have the finger cut off but disliked to do so as long as there was hope of saving it. A few days ago the finger began to decompose and she went to Grand Rapids Monday, where she was again advised to have the injured member amputated. She finally submitted to the operation and is now suffering from blood poisoning.

As a result of a mixup that resembled a hazing bee, at Ottawa Beach hotel several days ago, some Grand Rapids boys among them L. Blake and Sherman Baxter, were complained of by Clarence Morrison and warrants were issued from Justice McBrides court charging the boys with assault and battery. Baxter was on hand yesterday but the complaining witness did not appear and the case was put over. It is likely that it will be settled without further trouble.

PAINFUL PERIODS

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 813 Charlton Street East Savannah, Ga., writes: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.
